What is the Employee Assistance Program (EAP)?

TTUHSC El Paso recognizes that personal problems can have a direct and adverse impact on an individual's job performance.

Confidential, on-site counseling services are offered to full-time, part-time and temporary employees, as well as immediate family members living in their households.

Employee Assistance Program appointments are intended to help with a variety of personal issues, including relationship, family, emotional, stress and behavioral concerns.

What services are not included?

- Counseling for alcohol/drug abuse or addiction
- Legal advice
- Financial services

How does the program work?

The participant will receive up to five psychotherapy sessions free of charge.

If further services are needed, information regarding resources will be provided.

Cost of counseling or treatment beyond the five EAP sessions are the responsibility of the individual.

What happens if the participant requires medication?

The participant is referred to a physician on their insurance panel or to a physician in the Texas Tech Physicians of El Paso Department of Psychiatry, based on the participant's preference.

Are EAP services confidential?

In the EAP, we respect patients’ privacy. EAP records do not become part of the individual’s medical record.

No confidential information will be released without the participant’s written authorization unless required by law or mandatory reporting regulations.
