What Can Historically Black Medical Schools Teach a Newly Designated Hispanic-Serving Medical School?

Moderated By:
Hector Balcazar, M.S., Ph.D.
Dean and Professor of Public Health College of Science and Health (COSH)
Charles R. Drew University of Medicine and Science, Los Angeles

Mary Kidd Davis, M.S., R.N.
Clinical Instructor
Community Health & Preventive Medicine
Course Director, Fundamentals of Medicine I,
Clinical Preceptorship
Morehouse School of Medicine, Atlanta

Roberto Vargas, M.D., M.P.H.
Assistant Dean for Health Policy and Inter-Professional Education within the College of Medicine
Director of the Health Policy Pillar of the Urban Health Institute at Charles R. Drew University of Medicine and Science (CDU).

Veronica T. Mallett M.D., M.M.M.
Executive Director
Center for Women’s Health Research
Professor Department Obstetrics and Gynecology
Meharry Medical College School of Medicine,
Nashville, Tennessee

Objectives:
Upon completion of this session, participants should be able to:

- Identify administrative infrastructure, curricular, and co-curricular approaches/programs at historically Black medical schools (HBMS) that contribute to success for diverse students on HBMS campuses.
- Examine lessons learned within historically Black medical schools aboutoptimal approaches to fostering student learning to support their role in improving individual and community health.
- Explore the role and importance of historically Black medical schools within the context of the Black Lives Matter movement, especially in describing the impact of racism on health and health care access.

Accreditation:
The Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center El Paso
Paul L. Foster School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

How to claim your credit:
To claim CME credit, participants must log in using their full name and remain logged in for the majority of the activity. A CME activity's WebEx entry and exit time stamps will be used to confirm these time stamps.

Credit Designation:
The Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center El Paso
Paul L. Foster School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 2 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Disclosure Policy:
It is the policy and practice of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center El Paso Paul L. Foster School of Medicine Office of Continuing Medical Education to resolve all potential conflicts of interest prior to the activity. There are no relevant financial relationships with ACME defined commercial interest for anyone who was in control of the content for this activity.

Ethics and Professional Responsibility:
This activity provides 2 CME credit toward the annual requirement of the Texas Medical Board for continuing medical education credit in medical ethics or professional responsibility.

Ethics and Professional Responsibility:
- TTUHSC El Paso reserves the right to cancel this activity in the event of unforeseen or extenuating circumstances.
- Persons with disabilities who need auxiliary aids or services may call the Office of CME at 915-215-4880 to arrange accommodation.

Tuesday, Dec. 1, 2020
3:30 - 5:30 p.m.
Via Webex

Sponsored by:
Society, Community & the Individual (SC)